Medium to light yellow hue, with more colour than the two prior vintages, and a touch of sulfide reduction on the bouquet - a good touch of matchstick. The wine is soft on the palate, pillowy-textured and rounded, smooth and satiny, with medium length. Very good, although it doesn't seem to have the drive and vigour of the 2014 vintage. On the other hand, it has seamless oak and great complexity, softness and palate harmony. (Winemaker Will Berliner believes the sulfides will dissipate with time. They certainly cleared after a few hours in my glass) 20/4/2016

Medium to light yellow hue and a very complex, hazelnutty, almond-like and nougat-tinged bouquet, very layered and rounded. The palate is firm and very dry, with piercing flavour and good concentration, lingering long on the finish. Superb elegance and definite intensity and impact. Excellent and will age well. 20/4/2016

Deep red/purple hue and a clean, ripe, dark berry and violet aroma, the flavour very intense and vital, pure and refined, concentrated and very long on the finish. The tannins are slightly sappy, very evident and smoothly ripe, beautifully entwined with the flavour. Superb cabernet. It will live long but is remarkably approachable right now. 20/4/2016

Very youthful, deep red/purple colour, bright and young, the bouquet highly aromatic with stalky crushed-leaf and violet aromas, including a hint of greenness. The palate is delicate and refined, subtle and elegant, with fruit purity and lively acidity. The profile is lean and the tannins are soft, fine and ripe. 20/4/2016
